

DON'T SUFFER WITH WINTER ECZEMA

This irritating and exasperating malady can be relieved with
S. S. S.

Winter Eczema, sometimes called TETTER, is one of the many varieties of the irritating and tormenting disease known as Eczema. A deep-seated blood disease that is so often confused as a Skin Disease. Don't think that you can rid yourself of it by washing with medicated soaps or medicated lotions. You will save both your time and money by leaving them alone. Winter Eczema is seemingly dead during the hot months, but with the advent of cold weather it comes to life with renewed vigor. The head, feet and hands are the parts most often attacked, though it sometimes appears on other parts of the body, the skin hardens, cracks open and bleeds, while the itching and burning is at times almost unbearable. Scratching only makes it worse, sores and scales forming where the skin is broken.

In this form of Eczema brownish white crusts sometimes form which scale off in fine particles, leaving the skin raw and inflamed. It is especially painful and severe when confined to the hands, which often become so badly affected that the sufferer is unable to perform the lightest work. This, like all other types of Eczema, is due to the acid poisons in the blood and not to local causes. The trouble is more than skin deep, and washes, soaps, powders and salves nor anything else applied to the surface cannot possibly do more than soothe the burning and itching or relieve temporarily the inflammation and pain.

It is the acids thrown off by the blood and which are forcing their way through the pores that cause the skin to harden, crack and bleed, and produce the irritation and soreness. S. S. S. neutralizes these acid poisons and cleanses the blood of all irritating substances and humors, and does it promptly and effectually. Beware of imitations—refuse substitutes.

S. S. S. purifies and invigorates the thin acid blood, and builds up the entire system; then the unsightly eruptions heal; the skin becomes smooth and soft, and all signs of the Eczema disappear. Get S. S. S. from your druggist, and write for our special book on skin diseases—free. Write the Swift Specific Company, Medical Department, Room 17, Atlanta, Ga.

Mrs. Round's Position.

"Mrs. Round is one woman who doesn't avoid telling her age," said Mrs. Bright, smiling deceptively. "She's always so grateful you didn't ask how much she weighs."

Which Makes a Difference.

"The only thing I can find to say against you, Jane," said her mistress, "is that your washing bill is far too much. Last week you had six waists in the wash. Why, my own daughter never needs more than three."

Jane—"Ah, that may be, but I have to. Your daughter's sweetheart is a bank clerk, while my young man is a chimney sweep. It makes a difference, doesn't it?"

Laughter.

Some scientists tell us that the expression of laughter is not always indicative of a physical appreciation of enjoyment, for it is well known that idiots are prone to laughter which is often without any such significance. They often show a laughing countenance, the smile being more or less stamped on their features; or they may grin, giggle or chuckle at the slightest thing. It is probable that in such cases laughter purely expresses physical contentment, rarely associated with higher or more complex ideas.

Market for Handkerchiefs.

The immediate surroundings of the great pier where St. Paul landed are as filthy as any other part of Pozzuoli. Indescribable old hags leer at us from the doorways; ragged and dirty children, wholly unacquainted with the use of a pocket handkerchief, swarm around us. Several small fishing boats are drawn up on the shore and a little church, called St. Paul's Chapel, stands immediately behind the ancient mole.

The modern pier, built over the ancient mole, is a truly magnificent one of solid cut stone, which runs far out into the sweet, clean water, and by going out to the end we get beyond the reach of the importunate tourists. If one can forget the approaches to the pier, he can here enjoy the enchanting scenery of the sea and shore, while his mind is stimulated by memories of the mighty past.

Introduced Wire Nails.

Wire nails were first made in the United States by William Hensel of New York, about 1851. In 1875 Father Goebel, a Catholic priest, located at Covington, Ky., coming from Germany, where the art of making wire nails was practiced. Goebel began the manufacture of wire nails at Covington, and in 1876, the American Wire & Screw Nail company was established under his leadership. At first the nails were made by hand, but soon a French machine was imported. For a time the wire nails were made with hammers, but they might hold more securely, and the new industry grew but slowly. In 1876 at the Centennial Exhibition in Philadelphia, the company received a silver medal over French and German competitors. This called the attention of trade to the article, and other firms at once took up its manufacture.

Why Watches Go Wrong.

Recent tests have shown that a watch which normally varies only to the extent of a second a day may gain or lose a quarter of a minute in 24 hours if it is hung up on a stand or bedpost. The angle at which it hangs is also a factor. It is also believed that the well-known fact of a watch keeping bad time when worn by some one else than the owner is not due to bodily temperature or animal magnetism, as is generally believed, but to the different rhythm of motion.

TRYING TO LOCATE AGED RELATIVE

CHIEF OF POLICE RECEIVES COMMUNICATION FROM CHIEF OF POLICE OF FORT WORTH ASKING FOR INFORMATION.

Chief of Police Cullen Bailey of Fort Worth has written the police department of this city making inquiry about one James S. Cole, whom his relatives fear was hurt in the recent explosion. The records of the local undertakers dispel this theory, unless the remains are recovered later, which is not probable.

Following is the letter in full. Perhaps someone may be able to furnish the desired information.

"Chief of Police,

"Ardmore, Okla.

"Dear Sir:

"Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Adams, of this city, called at my office this morning and related the following story:

"It seems that Mrs. Adams has not heard from her brother, James S. Cole, for the past twenty-five years. Some six weeks or two months ago she received a letter from him, written in Chicago, in which he stated that he had just succeeded in locating her and that it was his intention of leaving Chicago at once, and that he intended to make his home in this city the balance of his days.

"It seems that he has spent the most valuable years of his life prospecting. His letter informs his sister that he has finally been successful and that a claim of his is now worth in excess of $70,000.

"Mr. and Mrs. Adams are both aged persons, and their idea in desiring to locate their lost brother and brother-in-law is not in order to obtain his money. Rather they desire to become reunited and spend the remainder of their numbered years in each other's company.

"They fear that he was in Ardmore on the day of that memorable explosion and their anxiety is great pending your reply. They furnished an old-fashioned photograph (tin-type) and while they agree that same no doubt is now a very poor likeness, thought that possibly same would assist you in identifying him. He is described as being fifty-seven years of age, five feet ten inches tall, blue eyes, cut hair at top of head caused from a wound during his childhood.

"Would thank you to use your best efforts in their behalf, and awaiting the opportunity to reciprocate, I beg to remain.

"Yours very respectfully,

"CULLEN BAILEY,

"Chief of Police."

Poor Grandpa.

"Pa, did you ever run away when you were a boy?" "No, never." "Did you always go to Sunday school?" "I never missed a Sunday." "Did you ever do what your parents told you not to do?" "I am glad to say that I never did." "Didn't you ever make a fuss when you had to take a bath?" "I should say not. I always took my bath without complaining. I liked it." "Didn't it ever make you mad to be called in to do something for your mother when you would rather stay out and play with the other boys?" "It always gave me the keenest pleasure to do things for my mother, no matter whether I had to stop playing or not." "And did you always speak respectfully of your parents?" "Always. That was one of the first things I ever learned to do." "Gee, what a liar grandpa is."

Old Stonehenge.

Stonehenge is nine miles north of Salisbury, in England. The name comes from the Saxon Stanhengest, or "Hanging Stones." They constitute the ruins of an ancient sanctuary. In the middle is the so-called altar—a slab of blue marble. Most of the larger stones are sandstone, the others are granite. Someone has said of Stonehenge that it is to England what the pyramids are to Egypt. Scientists have declared that the old castle belongs to an epoch nearly two thousand years before the birth of Christ.

Ought to Be Ashamed.

"Are you looking for work?" asked the farmer, eagerly. "Yep," replied Plodding Pete; "what kind of work have you got on hand?" "Almost any kind you want." "Well, you ought to be ashamed of yourself, leavin' so much work undone lyin' around. I ain't goin' to hire out to no sitch shiftless man as you."

Ashamed of Own Toes.

Man is a five-toed animal who seems ashamed of the fact. He covers his sensitive feet with leather, which turns him into an imitation ungulate, or hoofed creature, and then wonders why he has corns and bunions. He takes the spring out of the earth with his pavements and the elasticity out of his stride with hard-soled shoes, and marvels why walking has become a pain instead of a pleasure. There may be some climatic excuse for this folly in winter, and as for grown-ups at any season "the world has set its heavy yoke upon the grave and bearded folk." But give the kids, even the poor little rich kids, a chance to get their feet on the good breast of the earth.

Belgium's List of Great.

Belgium also has to her credit Vieuxtemps, who was born at Verviers; Arthur de Greef, the pianist, who was born at Louvain; the great cellist, Gerardy, who comes from Spa; while Brussels was the birthplace of Ernest de Munck, Henri Verbruggen, the famous violinist and composer, and Jane Bourgeois, the singer. The greatest living exponent of an unusual form of art, the official carillonneur of the city of Malines, Josef Denyn, is also a Belgian.—New York Press.
